

as will:

I send you this plat

sketch out as best I can, to show where, something mean, where the line would run, where timber interest into two equal parts.

I would give good shape to both parts, and something near the same amount of timber to each half. Starting from your corner in the woods running about 14° East of South would divide it ally, cutting the South line 38 poles from present corner, and 48 poles from your far corner. I shall write to Glen in day or two

I refer you to the matter.
